Policy *.. Interlocal Service Boundary Agreements

The County shall adhere to this Comprehensive Plan, including but not limited to the Future Land Use Map, when negotiating Interlocal Service Boundary Agreements (ISBAs).

Interlocal Service Boundary Agreements shall include a Joint Planning Area wherein the County and municipality agree upon the future land use of lands that the municipality may annex.

Interlocal Service Boundary Agreements that allow a municipality to annex land in a pattern that waives the statutorily described requirements of compactness and contiguity or creates an enclave shall include:

- Future Land Use assignments mutually agreed to upon by the County and municipality for all lands subject to such annexation or affected by the Interlocal Service Boundary Agreement; and
- Agreement by the County and municipality that subsequent changes in Future Land Use assignments on lands within the ISBA boundary ~~subject to such annexation or affected by the ISBA may~~ shall not be made ~~approved by said municipality, whether or not incorporated, unless also approved~~ agreed upon by all parties to the ISBA ~~the County~~.

All County ISBAs shall be included into this Comprehensive Plan.

Policy *.. Evaluate Intergovernmental Agreement Effectiveness

The County shall monitor municipality annexations. If a municipality initiates action to annex property that is not reasonably compact, contiguous to the present municipal corporate limits, or creates an enclave, as described per Florida Statute, the County shall object to the annexation and shall legally challenge the annexation.

The County shall evaluate the effectiveness of JPAs and ISBAs, ~~and update, as necessary, the joint planning agreements with municipalities and School Board relating to notification of land use actions when such actions may affect adjacent jurisdictions.~~
